

Automating for better medication management and improved patient care.

At McKesson, everything we do and every system we produce is designed to support you and your work. We can help you improve both the health of your patients and the financial health of your organization, with solutions that let you respond faster, with fewer errors, while automating tasks to lower your costs and save you time. So you'll have more time to spend on clinical duties that directly improve the quality of patient care.

Learn how better medication management leads to improved patient care at www.mckesson.com/automationsolutions.

MCKESSON