Company Background

Four women connected by blood, marriage, and friendship launched Farmer's Daughter Hemp. We are two mother-daughter duos who have seen CBD's positive impact on our own families. We've done the research. We've tried it ourselves. Now we're excited to know we're providing not only a product, but a service to pharmacy customers.

Product Overview

Organically grown in our Kentucky fields and processed in a Kentucky GMP facility using CO2 extraction for the purest CBD possible, our hemp is free of pesticides, heavy metals, and solvents. Every batch is third-party tested in an ISO-accredited lab. Each bottle is printed with a batch number linking it to the batch specific Certificate of Analysis (COA), which you can locate through the look up tool on our website. The safety and health of your customers is our top priority.
