

See what mRNA could do at aboutmRNA.com

mRNA could change the future of medicine

For over 13 years, Moderna has been researching how to deliver the greatest possible impact to people through mRNA medicines.

mRNA is the messenger in our cells that could change how we fight illnesses. With its technology, Moderna is transforming medicine by researching and developing investigational mRNA vaccines and therapeutic approaches for infectious, rare, cardiovascular, and autoimmune diseases—even cancer.

moderna[®]

this changes everything