Product Overview

The Eyecon is a prescription filling station that makes each pharmacy more efficient and helps reduce counting errors, plus it improves patient safety and the pharmacy's confidence by validating that the proper NDC is dispensed.

Using a camera, it counts the black/white image of the medication 5 times per second in a static mode, which improves accuracy vs. using a sensor that counts in motion. The improved accuracy when compared to hand counts will deliver a fast ROI.

Scanning the patient label and NDC from the stock bottle validates that the proper medication is being dispensed. Besides providing peace of mind, the validation mode also captures a photo of the pills that is saved by the prescription number.

The Eyecon is ideal for all hand counted scripts, but can also be used to double or triple count controlled substances, making it a perfect complement to robotic dispensers by simply adding an NDC bar code to the robotic vial label.
