Company Background

KeyCentrix™ is dedicated to the pharmacy industry by offering best in class technology, thought leadership, world-class solutions consulting, and hands-on support ensuring our customers are equipped with solutions to advance pharmacy practice. Beginning in 1973 KeyCentrix and its parent, Computer, Inc., have been supporting the industry with leading software solutions for nearly 40 years. Current KeyCentrix product offerings include RxKey Pharmacy Software, flexTRAX Point of Sale, and New Leaf Rx Pharmacy Software. KeyCentrix technology and service solutions have been designed to transform pharmacy management by streamlining operations and providing the power of actionable data to make better decisions and grow profitably.

Product Overview

Leverage the power of order-based, exception-driven workflow with New Leaf Rx. This unique combination enables custom configuration of your software to support ideal throughput and enforces best practices for single or multi-location pharmacy environments. New Leaf Rx software, combined with our consultative and comprehensive implementation approach, offers pharmacies a level of resources and service unlike anything else available in the industry.

New Leaf Rx's easy to use, fully customizable workflow and order manager are tailored for pharmacies and pharmaceutical manufacturers that are looking to innovate, increase efficiency and maximize their footprint in the specialty and more advanced high margin pharmaceutical market.

Features

■ Order-based Solution

Logically group items into orders for processing efficiency.

■ Highly Configurable

Configurable workflow stages support your specific business needs and operations.

■ Exception-driven Workflow

Ensure compliance adherence by requiring activities on complex therapies driven by:

- Manufacturer Reporting
- Business Objectives
- Stage Validations
- Sales/Marketing Needs
- Cost to Patient
- Disease State
- Lab Values
- Drug

■ Consultative Implementation Approach

The KeyCentrix implementation team works with each customer to evaluate current and future state operations to ensure the most efficient configuration of the New Leaf Rx software for your specific business goals. In addition, a complete training curriculum is developed and implemented to ensure the pharmacy team is go-live ready, and onsite support during the first week provides an extra layer of assistance and confidence.

■ Data Extraction and Analysis

New Leaf Rx offers a powerful centralized reporting engine, as well as the ability to add custom fields, specific to the needs of each location.

■ Integration with Existing Applications

Through KeyCentrix consultative services, existing applications will be evaluated for replacement or integration, streamlining your operation and reducing costs.

Additional Product Lines

KeyCentrix offers these additional products: RxKey Pharmacy Management Software and flexTRAX Point of Sale.

Markets Served

New Leaf Rx serves retail, specialty, multi-location, mail order, outpatient, and long term care pharmacies.
